1.2.208

a Lesson in the University of The New Covenant

Theodore Cottingham, December 28, 2004, Tape 81_1

www.unc.bz

1. You will get what you want for you seek Me with a whole heart, you are seeking Me with a pure heart, and you are seeking Me intently, intentionally, deliberately. You are focused on Me and where I am going, there you are going also. I love you and I thank you for coming into Me; seeing Me and coming into My will; coming into My design; coming into My fullness and not being afraid. Not being afraid to walk on water; not being afraid to part the seas, to walk in the sea unparted and watch it part; to stand before men who hate you, hate your guts and what you stand for; who hate Me and My blood, My redemption, My Cross, what I have done and who I am; what I provide; My kingship, My heaven, My Third Heaven.
2. I love you and I give you Me and I thank you because your face is turned toward Me and your heart is not shallow for you have come and you have dived into Me and you are forsaken all to follow Me.
3. And yea, I forsake not all, I forsake nothing now; I keep nothing from you; I give you My all. I have given you My all, I have provided all; and I thank you for coming into My provision.
4. I thank you for not being afraid to sit down with 5,000 and break My bread and feed them all and have more remaining than you began with. I love you My Me; I love you My Me; I love you My body; I love you My work, My creation, My who lets Me be Me.
5. I love you and I give you Me and I smile upon you this day. And I smile with no hurt, no grudge, no grime; but light, life, the whiteness of My radiance containing all of My color, all of My power, all of My authority, all of My Me in you.
6. I love you for raising your head never above Mine but bowing, surrendered, submitted, drink offering'd before Me; taking and breaking My body, sharing My blood with My who love Me, with My who seek Me, [with] My who don't even know I exist and yet see Me every day.
7. Yea, I love you; I love them; yea, they are Mine'd set free; their body Me. I love you and I give you Me. My caladiums, My cauliflower, My celery; yea, Me; My gardens, My gardens, My fruits, My vegetables; food of only Me coming forth, food and raiment provision of Me; all provided. Yea, nothing so abundant as Me and the abundance that is Me. I create, I call forth and I live by the word of My mouth not the sweat of My brow. I create, I create, and I live and I love and I give you all of Me.